Damon's life was far too short, but anyone who knew Damon knew that he had experienced more love in his seven years than most people experience in a life time. His smile could melt anyone's heart and in times where there were no words his voice and thoughts could always be heard.

Damon's courage led us to believe that each day is a blessing and an opportunity to create lasting memories. Damon enjoyed playing with and listening to his brothers. He loved going to school to see all of his friends and developed a lasting bond. He liked reading stories, playing in his sandbox, and riding the four-wheeler.

With Damon's passing we remind everyone that his life was one to be celebrated. Although we will miss him every day especially his beautiful smile he will forever remain in our hearts. He taught us about life and helped us make irreplaceable memories. It has been a privilege to be his parents. We are also very thankful that Damon's brothers Cayson and Korbin got to experience the warmth at his kind loving nature.
